

Inclusive research post COVID-19: Making it different

Tuesday 2nd March

2pm - 5pm

This NIHR ARC National virtual workshop is hosted by ARC East of England's Inclusive Involvement in Research Theme.

It aims to capture and share the innovative and creative ways that together researchers and public partners have created and maintained communication and trust in the context of COVID-19. We hope that sharing such innovations will help to ensure that new ways of working in partnership will be carried forward and make a difference in the post-COVID world.

The workshop will be facilitated by 'Shaping Our Lives' a user-led organisation.

Sharing ideas on 'making it different' will be facilitated by group work and discussion as well as a series of short presentations (5 minutes maximum) using a variety of formats (video, poems, artwork etc.)

We welcome presentations which illustrate a novel way of researchers and public partners working together to develop research and/or translate findings into practice.

Please register the workshop here.

Funding is available to reimburse service users to attend

If you have something you would like to share, please send us your plan for a presentation.

Guidance of what to send can be found here

All presentations should be sent to: ARCOffice@cpft.nhs.uk

The closing date for submission is: Friday 19th February
